

The Joy of writing Blogs.

Srisivan.k

I like to write blogs beacause, it is fun doing so. Blogs can be thought of a recollection of thoughts, ideas and memories present in your mind. It can be thought as writing them in a diary. Blogs help you to remember these. I started to write blogs a few months ago. I found it interesting.

The steps are as follows :

1. Writing in the text editor(which is vim in my mac),
2. Converting it to a text file using the pandoc program,
3. Editing it in the TextWrangler,
4. And then finally publishing it in the medium website.

I especially found the steps to go through to publish, iteresting. I then take the link of the website and share it within my family and friends, so that they can know my thoughts and experiences. This idea of writing this blog struck to me before, and so I have started writing it.

I have published some blogs earlier and hope to publish more hereafter.
